

September 2009 - In this issue:

- Wire duct keeps control cabinet wiring neat and organized
- Pre-assembled surge protection sets protect solar installations
- Hit the road to IP67 solutions in Phoenix Contact's FL Camino
- Wireless technology in the pump industry

Products and Technology

Wire duct keeps control cabinet wiring neat and organized

A new line of wire duct cabinet add-ons simplifies control cabinet wiring. With CLIPLINE wire duct, wiring is neat and secure, making it easy to replace or add wiring later.

Learn more about wire duct...

Pre-assembled surge protection sets protect solar installations

Phoenix Contact now offers pre-assembled surge protection sets for the solar photovoltaic (PV) industry.

Find out more about the PV sets ...

Company News

'Hit the road' to IP67 solutions in Phoenix Contact's FL Camino

Learn how to get the most mileage out of your automation from the Phoenix Contact "FL Camino." The fully restored and customized 1970 El Camino displays a wide range of industrial components and connectors for IP67 applications.

Watch an interactive Flash demonstration of the FL Camino...

Don't have Flash? Read our News Release to learn more about the FL Camino...

Wireless technology in the pump industry

Industrial wireless technology is becoming more common. Pumps & Systems magazine recently published an article (written by Phoenix Contact) about the use of wireless technology in the pump industry.

Read the full article...

Contact Us

For more information or questions about the Phoenix Contact e-News, please e-mail your comments and questions to us.

Would you like to send this to a friend? Enter their e-mail address below:

